

Assessing Both Student and Program Goals

A Unified Approach

Introduction

Experience has taught me:

- ▶ Education should be transformational rather than transactional.
- ▶ Assessment has changed from Goals to Objectives to Outcomes.
- ▶ Assessment requires provable data.
- ▶ Outcomes should be more than acquired information.
- ▶ Assessment is a never ending cycle.
- ▶ Assessment is not about where you are but where you're going.
- ▶ Most data will come from individual college courses.

Implementation has shown:

- ▶ Assessment is difficult but doable.
- ▶ Student and Program Goals must be reframed as Outcomes.
- ▶ Measurable outcomes trump noble goals.
- ▶ Most of your data will be generated at the course level.
- ▶ Every course should contribute to the student's development.
- ▶ Focusing on outcomes helps standardize course instruction.
- ▶ Student Outcomes can be built from the bottom up, but Program outcomes need to flow from the top down.

The Process

- ▶ Express outcomes in terms of what the student will be able to do.
- ▶ Determine where these outcomes will be assessed.
- ▶ Assign key performance indicators to specific courses.
- ▶ Expect the process to take more time than first planned.
- ▶ Provide a user friendly interface for inputting and tracking outcomes.
- ▶ Regularly review data for the purpose of improvement

Example 1 - Student Goals:

- ▶ Our school's Student Goals were rewritten. (See Student Goals)
- ▶ Faculty determined which items were addressed by their courses.
- ▶ Key performance Indicators were placed in each course using provided software. (See Course Goal Submission Form)
- ▶ Results were posted at the end of each semester based on those who passed the course.
- ▶ Results are tabulated on an ongoing basis and reviewed at the end of each year. (See bottom of Program Outcomes Matrix)

Example 2 - Program Outcomes:

- ▶ Program Goals have been rewritten as Outcomes. (See Program Outcomes)
- ▶ Courses are listed that should inform that Outcome. (See Analysis Procedure)
- ▶ Key Performance Indicators will be determined for each course.
- ▶ These indicators will be listed in the software. (See Course Goal Submission Form)
- ▶ Results will be posted at the end of each semester for those who passed the course at the same time as the Student Goal indicators.
- ▶ Program results will be tabulated at the end of each year and reviewed by Program Chairs for ongoing planning. (See Program Outcomes Matrix)

Benefits Realized

- ▶ Targets are measurable outcomes instead of hoped for goals.
- ▶ Faculty is more aware of our interdependence in preparing students.
- ▶ Program have seen the need to rewrite Program Goals as outcomes.
- ▶ Revision has prompted an examination of course offerings and sequencing.
- ▶ There is a heightened understanding of the need for course progression within programs.
- ▶ Program Outcome matrices can now be seen as relevant tools for ongoing program improvement. (See Program Outcomes Matrix)
